We are very pleased to provide this overview of our company. We have been serving the greater New York and New Jersey area for over 30 years.

A. Santini Moving & Storage

Corporate Overview

<http://www.santinimoving.com>

A. Santini Moving and Storage Company is a family-owned relocation specialist headquartered in Roseland, New Jersey with annual sales of approximately 16 million dollars. Our operation is uniquely equipped to provide our clients with superior quality control and the highest degree of cost management. Whether it's moving an office, warehouse or high-tech equipment, we are there to do the job professionally, efficiently and on schedule. Our system employs dedicated professionals backed by the finest equipment and facilities available to deliver a consistently high level of service.

Our customer service staff will manage any relocation assignment entrusted to our care. Education, guidance and close monitoring will guarantee cost effectiveness in all our relocation needs.

As a leading agent for STI (Specialized Transportation), A. Santini Moving and Storage Company is also prepared to handle any domestic or international relocation you may require. We are committed to returning the highest level of satisfaction per transportation dollar spent. Whether it's an office move across town or a major plant relocation across the country, our company's "attention to detail" will ensure the smoothest and most efficient move possible.

Planning - In the first and possibly most important step in any relocation, A. Santini Moving and Storage Company will work with the client to develop a cost efficient relocation services program. Our on-site analysis program will provide a department by department survey and inventory, while insuring that no details are overlooked.

We Will:

- Fully inventory everything that is scheduled to be packed, moved and/or relocated.
- Survey, review and determine the logistics at destination.

- Establish time tables in accordance with your needs and goals.
- Pre-determine manpower and equipment needed.
- Schedule work areas: Service dates.
- Lay out floor plans: Preparation.

Before moving day, we will pack or show employees how to pack and code for their workspace. We can also plan individual personnel moves through our household goods division to coordinate with scheduled relocation dates.

Performance - Our personnel are chosen from among those with the best safety and performance records. Each one of them receives special training in the padding and handling techniques required by today's needs-sensitive consumer. A. Santini Moving and Storage Company operates a fleet of vans specially equipped with shock absorbing air ride suspensions. These unique suspensions are designed to provide safe transit for sensitive products from personal household goods to mainframe computers. We also have access to climate control units for temperature sensitive items and crane assembly units for use in "no dock" situations.

Satisfaction - Making sure that all relocations are performed with safety in mind is an A. Santini commitment. Our service, communication, equipment and professional personnel add up to one thing: the assurance that a client's office or plant arrives secure and on time. From the initial contact with A. Santini, to the placement of the final piece, we will work hard to insure our clients' satisfaction.

At A. Santini Moving and Storage Company, we believe that:

Our Customers' satisfaction TODAY is our future for TOMORROW.

SECURITY

Security is the primary concern to the steps that we plan to take to ensure the safety of all materials and records:

- All personnel are: Bonded – Drug Tested – Assigned Uniformed Badges
- A lead man will be on call 24 hours a day, if needed.
- All vans will be emptied at night.

MAJOR RELOCATION MOVE COMMITTEE

The use of a move committee is extremely important to the success of the project. It is through this group that the total move plan is developed and communicated to the parties involved including personnel, service companies, contractors and movers.

One of the move committee's goals is to develop a plan to educate staff on what, when and how the move will take place and give them a warm and secure feeling for a successful transfer to the new site. We will work closely with you and incorporate your needs into our direction.

Web Warehousing

<http://www.santinimoving.com>

"We built our business on the founding principle that service excellence, safety and strong value for our customers is our number one priority".

John Sands,
Owner

Santini has stepped into the next generation of warehousing leaving the competition behind. With endless paper and painfully slow response times, there is a much better solution for clients who have storage needs.

Santini presents a viable solution for increased response times and quick delivery of goods. This helps achieve customer goals and productivity while mitigating errors that can be made through traditional warehousing.

Using the latest technology, Santini houses all its goods based on an individual barcode assigned and labeled upon entry into the facility. At any time, a customer can have an accurate assessment of their total storage. Whether, there is need for transit of goods or a current inventory, our web-based app can determine exactly to the position where the item is.

Santini is looking to benefit the customer in every way possible. This helps eliminate stress of holding onto goods long term or short.
